Day 1 :

In Roscoff, the Brittany planted above the old harbour is a real institution. Comfortably seated on the terrace of this old Breton manor from the XVII th century you will breathe the open sea air and admire the sunset panorama on the Batz island.

Through the Blosson headland when travelling south you will make out the spires of Saint-Pol-de-Léon cathedral. From the top of the church tower of the Kreisker chapel you will have the opportunity to admire the towns with its Renaissance houses the bay of Morlaix and the Mounts d'Arrée.

You will travel inside the lands up to the mouth of the Penzé river. Beyond the Lannuzouarn forest we will reach the rural Bretagne. Wayside Crosses, villages helmets stand out in the immense stretches of the vegetable farming.

The enclosed parochial units, a Breton particularity organized around triumphal doors, ossuaries and churches. You will find back these masterpieces of the religious art at Lampaul, Guimiliau and Saint-Thégonnec.

After the market gardening, the bocages and the maize fields follow each other.

In the Léguer valley you will discover a remarkable heritage. First of all the Kergrist castle with its varied style façades then the chapel of Kerfons and its XVth century jube.

Eventually you will come across the Tonquédec medieval castle where an immense plateau and dug deep valleys can be seen.

The end of this country Itinerary will lead you towards the Jaudy valley where the village of Brélidy harbours a superb manor.

2 Day 2 :

At the heart of the last Chouannerie stronghold in the Trégor the Brélidy castle towers a 35 hectare domain of wood, bocage and hollow paths. The river Jaudy flows at the foot of this XVth century home.

You will resume the road on the Trégorrois plateau. Before travelling back towards the mouth of the river Trieux do not miss the church at Runan fortified by the Templars in the XIVth century,

When ambling along the jetty of Paimpol harbour you will find back the ocean where the sail boats sail next to the small colored boats destined to the traditional fishing. You may travel up to the Arcouest head land in order to enjoy an outstanding view over Saint-Brieuc bay and the Bréhat island.

You will come back towards Lézardrieux by setting astride the suspension bridge over the river Trieux. In the wild peninsula you will discover a tide mill and a geological curiosity with the Talbert deep valley where the wrack is collected. You will cross the estuary formed by the junction of the Jaudy and the Guindy to discover the former Bishop's town of Tréguier, hanged on the hill.

A detour through the Plougrescant peninsula will provide the opportunity to discover small fishing ports and an imposing setting shaped by the breakers The abyss in the vicinity of the Château head land and the rocky islets of the Pors Scaff coves display good examples.

You will reach Perros-Guirec in the late afternoon to admire the sunset on the rocks of the Pink granite rose Coast.

Day 3 :

The Sphinx manor which is perched on Pink granite Coast the reveals a splendid view over the Trestignel bay.

Before leaving Perros-Guirec you will discover a vast panorama over the coast, the Sept Iles, including l'Île aux Moines, a paradise for marine birds to be seen from the panoramic view point.

Before reaching Lannion, you will make a detour via Pleumeur-Bodou the telecommunication centre of which originates the first transatlantic connection via satellite.

In the side streets of the old Lannion you will discover the façades of the Xvth and XVIth century corbelled construction houses.

You will reach the coast through the Léguer estuary. After Saint-Michel-en-Grève the road will cross a scenic area of a wooded coast towered by the « Grand Rocher» mass.

The journey will continue along the Lannion bay via the corniche of Armorique. A stop in Locquirec will give the opportunity to admire the village church, its Renaissance church tower and its XVIth century altar piece. It is a must to visit the Saint-Jean-du-Doigt enclosed parochial unit, the church of which houses a real treasure.

The Morlaix harbour is now present. The town is nestled in the shade of an imposing viaduct at the very end of the estuary, Below superb houses with decorated wood frame façades agglutinate in the quarter of the Sainte-Méline church (XVth century).

You will reach Carantec through the opposite shore of Morlaix bay on the peninsula which separates the Penzé estuary.

In the distance you will distinguish Roscoff, the end of the Itinerary.
