Day 1 :

In a 11 hectare park the Val Domain is a leisure unit towered by a small XVth century castle.

The registered hiking trail which runs along the reefs of the Côte d'Emeraude runs nearby.

After having crossed the Gouessant mouth, reach the reception and discovery Centre of the marine world at the Guettes head land. You will find back the Gouet valley at Saint-Julien on the road which will lead you to Quintin.

This town was formerly famous for its linen cloth. Its old XVth and XVII th century houses lie on the hill sides and the town is towered by the castle, the ramparts and the basilica.

When leaving the Lorge forest you will sink into the depths of the Gallo country.

On a rocky spur at the confluent of two valleys Moncontour maintains its picturesque side streets inside partially ruined ramparts.

You will reach the Touche-Trébry castle (XVIth century) on the sides of the Truite valley then the Gouessant valley.

The small town of Lamballe harbours the abbey church Notre-Dame, Saint-Martin church, a former priory from the XVth century Marmoutier abbey as well as a National stud farm.

After having entered the druidic depths and mysteries of Saint-Aubin forest you will distinguish at the edge of the wood the ruins of the Hunaudaye castle and its first constructions date from the XIIIth century.

The burial mounds laid on each side of the Arguenon will remind the Celts ' presence in this Armor region where you will spend the night.

Emeraude coast and Armorique coasts, Circuit N°36

Day 2 :

The imposing building of the Windsor castle (XVIIIth century) erected at the heart of a 11 hectare park is a guaranteed change of scenery for your stay.

You will continue your Itinerary in Gallo land by discovering the Antiques de Corseul gardens. Though the remains are Roman, the Coriosolites' capital city was already known by the Celts and the Gauls.

Travel back into the Middle Ages with the majestic keep standing in the medieval castle of Dinan. At its foot the old town lies with its side streets lined with XVth and XVIth century houses. The side streets run down a steep slope towards the yachting port on the banks of the Rance.

The road overlooks the water stream and the valley which continues towards the estuary. In Mordreuc you will enjoy the view over the Rance.

After crossing the Breton wet bocage you will discover the Mount Saint-Michel in Saint-Benoît-des-Ondes. Travelling along the coast you will progress towards the Grouin headland. Should the visitor wish to savour the flat oysters among the most famous in Brittany a gastronomic stopover is at the fishing port of Cancale remains essential.

The Grouin headland which faces the Landes island reveals a unique panorama from the Cape Fréhel to Granville. When the weather is clear you will distinguish the Chauzey islands in the distance.

You will realize the entire beauty of the former corsair city by walking along the ramparts of Saint-Malo.

You will cross the Rance estuary along the dam of the tidal power station to reach the heights of the valley where your wonderful « home » is waiting for you.

Emeraude coast and Armorique coasts, Circuit N°36

3 Day 3 :

At the Jouvente castle the Manoir is a superb XIXth century home built at the origin of the seaside tourism. Beyond a very flowered park you will discover a dazzling view over the Rance estuary.

Dinard harbours a magnificent unit of architectural heritage maintained since the XIXth century : 400 villas mainly built by the English. Since they are listed it provides the resort with a delicious old-fashioned atmosphere. At the Décollé head land you will discover one of the most beautiful panoramas in the region from Cape Fréhel to Saint-Malo.

After having crossed the mouth of Frémur you will have the opportunity to admire a restored mill from the XVI th century outside the village of Lancieux.

You will cross another mouth, the Arguenon one to reach Saint-Cast-le-Guildo and its harbour specialized in the fishing of scallops in the shell and small clams.

You will have to travel around the Frênaye bay to reach the Cape Fréhel in a majestic landscape of red, grey and black cliffs lined with reefs. Laid on the cliff the Fort la Latte feudal castle stands facing the invaders who came from the open sea. You will discover a unique panorama over the Côte d'Emeraude from the top of its tower.

After a last glance to the sun set at the cape of Erquy and after having attended the catch arrival of : soles, turbot and John Dory displayed on the harbour of the Réguinéens' town you will reach the Val Domain at Planguenoual, the Itinerary starting point.
