Day 1 :

Ajaccio, the Emperor Napoléon's home town deserves a longer part of the day unless you decide to stay longer in order to have a trip to the îles Sanguinaires where you will be transferred in a vacation paradise.

From the Grande Sanguinaire lighthouse you will enjoy an outstanding view over the whole gulf of Ajaccio.

Travelling along the south coast of the gulf you will cast a last glance to the Tino Rossi's town. You will definitely leave the town hustle and bustle to reach Porticcio sea-side resort.

Your coastal road will offer a great number of natural sites. After having driven along the Agosta beach you will distinguish the paradisiacal site of Isolella peninsula before entering into the deepness of the majestic eucalyptus forest of Chiavari.

Then you will drive towards the road of the Cortone and Chenova passes which winds its way through a dense scrub where the views follow one another.

You will drive back to the coast by following a small road which will lead you up to the archaeological site of Filitosa. the site will provide you with a history page of Corsica from the neolithic period to the Roman occupation before reaching the Propriano sea-side resort.

From Alta Rocca to the gulf of Bonifacio, Circuit N°50

2 Day 2 :

Before driving back you will enjoy the superb beaches of Propriano and particularly the Lido one at the end of which you will have the possibility to stay.

Then you will travel towards Sartène which is said to be « the most Corsican among the Corsican towns ». A visit to the old town is a must and particularly the quarter Santa Anna which has kept its medieval aspect. The Corsican prehistory Museum will complete your knowledge you got in Filitosa about the origins of Corsica.

Travelling away the national road you will have also the opportunity to see very beautiful archaeological sites such as the megaliths from Cauria, the alignments of Stantari, of Renaggiu, Palaggiu or even the Fontanaccia dolmen.

You will drive back on the national road which will lead you to Bonifacio through the Coralli pass where you will enjoy several views over the lion rock or the Monks island.

Facing Sardinia Bonifacio lies on a unique site. The old town surrounded with its fortifications is perched on a rocky promontory which overlooks the Mediterranean sea swell.

A visit of the upper town is a must as well as a sea voyage to discover the mysterious marine caves.

While staying there you will fully appreciate the place which is one of the imperative site in Corsica.

From Alta Rocca to the gulf of Bonifacio, Circuit N°50

3 Day 3 :

You will enjoy some more moments of happiness your eyes fixed on Sardinia and the natural reservation of Lavezzi island before travelling in the direction of the Arapa plateau.

A small scenic road will lead you up to Sotta, there you will be in the vicinity of the archaeological sites of Ceccia and Tappa. If you muster some courage to walk up to the rocky spur of Ceccia you will admire a 180° panorama from the Sotta plain to the gulf of Porto-Vecchio.

Today Porto-Vecchio is mainly famous for its famous superb beaches which make the delight of thousands of holiday-makers keen on suntan.

You will reach the foothills of the Alta-Rocca by crossing a superb forest of cork-oak trees then a scrub.

At the bend in one of the numerous twists of the road you will discover the imposing rocky massif of Ospédale which makes the delight of the hikers eager of unforgettable landscapes.

Through the foliages of the green-oak trees in the Ospédale forest you will soon discover the magic site of the Zonza perched village.

You will not forget to make a detour up to the Bavella pass. Then you will face one of the most beautiful panoramas in France. You will discover the majestic heads of the Bavella peaks.

You will travel back towards Zonza to reach Quenza along a pleasant road in the shade of the chestnut trees and the green-oak trees.

From Aullène you will reach the Vaccia pass then the town of Zicavo towered by the Mount Incudine one of the most beautiful summits on the registered hiking trail GR20.

Further to this superb day you will come back towards Ajaccio through Santa Maria-Sichè the Ornano family's birthplace.
